FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Legacy Community Health's Frank Billingsley Golf Classic marked its 15th anniversary in spectacular fashion, raising a record-breaking $500,000 to support student health care programs.

Golfers were greeted by cool weather on Monday, October 13 at Sweetwater Country Club. Beloved meteorologist and long-time Legacy supporter Frank Billingsley led the way for the sold-out event, which supports Legacy's School-Based Health Care program. This vital initiative delivers primary and behavioral health services directly to students at 39 KIPP, Yes Prep, and Galena Park ISD campuses.

The tournament was presented by Equitable, Hawkins Laakso, and Pinnacle Environmental Services. Golfers kicked off the morning with breakfast tacos and kolaches and received backpack coolers filled with swag before heading out to enjoy the beautiful views on the Pecan and Cypress courses. Sponsor tents dotted the fairways, offering giveaways and keeping spirits high throughout the day.

After the final putt, attendees gathered for a lively lunch, raffle drawing, and live auction. Emcee Johnny Bravo brought the energy as auctioneer, helping push the fundraising total to an incredible $500,000. Awards were presented to the top foursomes, capping off a day full of celebration and impact.

With growing needs across Houston-area schools, the success of this year's tournament ensures that more students will have access to quality health care — without ever leaving campus. Legacy Community Health is grateful to all sponsors, golfers, and volunteers who made this milestone event one for the book

About Legacy Community Health
